Irish Setter Jackets Are Soft and Water- and Wind-Resistant

WINNIPEG (January 2008) —Irish Setter jackets from Richlu utilize fabrics designed for comfort in the outdoors. Several items are constructed with sueded polyester/nylon micro oxford fabric which is exceptionally soft to the touch; its polyurethane coating makes it highly water- and wind-resistant.

The Wakefield jacket has snap closure front placket over a 2-way zipper to keep sportsmen protected from the elements. Sportsmen will also appreciate the insulated lining, adjustable waist and hem, detachable lined peaked hood with adjustable height and storm knit cuffs. Handy storage compartments include extractable elasticized shell case holders, inside cell phone pocket with zippered safety pocket, two lower scooped, dual entry bellows pockets with snap closures, two lower body lined zipper pockets and bottom pocket flaps that can be held up by hidden magnets in the garment body.

The Deerfield is a convenient 3-in-1 jacket with quilted shoulder patches, mesh lined upper body and action back. The liner features one upper body, two lower body zippered pockets and is trimmed in microsuede.

The Wakefield and Deerfield jackets are available in brown and olive, in men's sizes medium – 3XL. These Fall 08 items will be offered at leading sporting goods retailers in August 2008; the suggested retail price is $139 USD for the Wakefield and $199 USD for the Deerfield jackets.

The Irish Setter brand, long known for its performance hunting boots, has extended its brand to apparel. Richlu Manufacturing is an authorized licensee of Red Wing Shoe Company. The Fall 08 line includes performance upland jackets and rugged casual jackets, vests, shirts and pants that are hunting-inspired.

“Richlu was attracted to Red Wing’s Irish Setter brand because of its strength among both retailers and consumers,” said Richlu Vice President Gavin Rich. “Irish Setter’s loyal following appreciates its rich hunting footwear heritage. We’re confident that the generations who have worn the footwear will be equally receptive to the apparel.”

“We thought the Irish Setter brand had the potential to broaden beyond footwear and that apparel would be a good start. Richlu’s values are in alignment with Irish Setter’s core values of quality, comfort and durability. That was a very important consideration when we evaluated this opportunity,” said Mark Dinndorf, Irish Setter Brand Manager. “We’re especially impressed with Richlu’s commitment to quality.”

Richlu Manufacturing was founded in 1939 and is a 100% family owned company located in Winnipeg, Canada.
